

With a proven 30+ year track record, Capital Data is built to handle even the toughest times.

Capital Data's engineering and sales teams are here for you and we remain ready to serve and assist. Our teams have been working remotely, doing what is necessary to serve our Customers. We are proactive and agile—prepared to engage. We have the tools and processes in place to successfully handle your technology and business needs during this unprecedented time.

All systems in place

- Signature Services are fully remote and functioning, keeping your technology up to date and secure.
- Distribution Centers that supply hardware solutions are geographically placed on both the East and West coasts. Shipping times remain normal.
- Our professional workforce has embraced this challenge and will persevere through this together.

Our focus is on the health of our employees, families, partners and customers. Please know that everyone you interact with at Capital Data is prepared to help in any way possible. Now is the time to lean on us.
